THE STORY OF LEE Concludes

Relationships are difficult in any language and culture, but when those worlds collide, matters of the heart complicate themselves tenfold- milestones seem more monumental. THE STORY OF LEE VOL. 3 follows Lee, a girl recently transplanted from her native Hong Kong to Edinburgh, Scotland. At her side is her partner Matt, who decided to return home to Scotland with her. The couple met in the first installment as Matt was the “foreigner” meeting Lee’s family and plunging into Chinese culture. Now, we see the world from Lee’s eyes as she experiences life in a country she has dreamt about since she was a little girl but is completely alien.

The culture clash comes to a head in this final volume as Lee must navigate Matt veering off his studies into a late-night life with a band which she sees distrustfully and her father back in Hong Kong injured during a protest and needing her back at home...

This shojo (romance) manga is quite complex. Along with picturesque scenes of historic Edinburgh, the story provides an insightful look at a mixed couple and the delicate balance between attraction for the exotic and alienation.

THE STORY OF LEE VOL. 3 is by Sean Michael Wilson and Piarelle. Wilson, a Scottish comic book writer, living in Japan, has published more than a dozen books by US, UK, and Japanese publishers, including the critically acclaimed AX: alternative manga- nominated for a Harvey Award and appearing on PW’s ‘best ten books of 2010’. Piarelle is an award-winning British manga artist. This is her debut work as a graphic novel artist.
